

PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN AXIS GLOBAL LOGISTICS
AND DEPENDABLE DISTRIBUTION CENTERS
INCREASES EFFICIENCY AND CUTS COSTS

Axis Global Logistics and Dependable Distribution Centers, will discuss the customer benefits that flow from their strategic partnership at booth 606 at the SCOPE Spring Show, which is being held from April 22-April 24, 2012 at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare in Chicago.

At the show, Axis, which is headquartered in New York City, and Los Angeles-based Dependable Distribution will explain how they leverage their geographic diversity and industry-leading technology to provide customers in a variety of industries with a flexible supply chain solution that boosts efficiency and cuts costs.

The collaboration between Axis and Dependable Distribution provides customers with an integrated network of warehouses and distribution centers—collectively the companies have facilities across the US, Canada and the Pacific and agents throughout Europe and Asia—along with customized domestic and international transportation services, including air freight, LTL and FTL.

At the core of this partnership is cutting-edge technology. Axis and Dependable Distribution operate on the same warehouse management platform and employ cloud-based computing. This means that all of the facilities are linked seamlessly and that customers have complete visibility and flexibility when it comes to their inventory and shipments throughout the supply chain. It is this technology—along with the highest possible degree of personal service—that increases efficiency and reduces costs.
