

Axis Will Highlight Direct to Store Program At GlobalShop Show

New York, February 22, 2012—Axis Global Logistics—a leading provider of time-critical transportation services—will provide information about its logistics solutions for retailers at booth 627 at the GlobalShop Show, which is being held from February 29-March 2, 2012, at the Sands Expo & Convention Center in Las Vegas, Nevada.

At the GlobalShop Show, Axis will focus on its Direct to Store program, which offers retailers the fastest, most reliable delivery service available. Highlights of this service include: time-critical transportation; project management; store fixture installations; site surveys and audits; and management of nationwide store distributions. This industry-leading program also offers vendor management; consolidation management; mall, after-hours and inside delivery options; reverses logistics; and a comprehensive warehousing network.

Axis' Direct to Store program is one component of an overall supply chain solution that the company designs and implements for clients in the retail industry. This solution optimizes costs and efficiency and allows retailers to better navigate fluctuations in demand when dealing with such issues as the set up of visual merchandise and POP displays for new product launches, or the time-sensitive delivery and installation of store fixtures for resets, remodels and new store construction.

Headquartered in Maspeth, New York, Axis Global Logistics specializes in sensitive, time-critical freight that requires a high-degree of personal service. Axis has a National Fulfillment Center in New Jersey and distribution and warehouse facilities at strategic locations across the United States, Canada, Europe and Asia—along with more than 800 Axis agents worldwide. The company creates supply chain solutions for companies in a variety of industries.
