Executives at financial services firms focus their energy and expertise on managing client assets – not on such issues as shipping and logistics. While this is certainly understandable, it means that financial firms do not take advantage of the efficiencies and cost-savings that can result from a customized logistics solution designed to meet a firm's specific needs.

For more than 20 years Axis Global Logistics has specialized in providing financial firms like yours with a customized single source logistics solution that cuts costs and offers visibility and control when it comes to the movement of critical assets like computer equipment in support of corporate adds, moves and other changes.

Computer Asset Management

Computers are the life-line of any financial services firm and represent a major investment so it is essential that these assets be effectively managed as people and equipment move from office to office. By helping you manage these adds, moves and changes, Axis can boost your efficiency and cut your costs. Our computer asset management solution includes the following steps:

Careful Preparation

Axis first creates a precise list of the computer equipment to be picked up – which includes information such as model type, serial number and other relevant asset tag data – and then schedules a pick-up time at your convenience;

De-installation

Once on-site, Axis coordinates the de-installation of your computer equipment;

Inventory Integrity

At this point, Axis implements detailed chain of custody procedures to guarantee inventory integrity;

Packing

Packing of the equipment can be done on-site in some cases or at a nearby Axis facility – once packing is complete, the chain of custody form will follow the equipment as a packing list attached to each box;

Storage

Axis offers both short and long term storage options at our warehouses;

Inventory Management

If equipment is stored at an Axis warehouse for later use, all items are checked against the packing list upon receipt and then entered into our state-of-the-art warehouse management system;

Visibility

Customers can keep track of inventory on-line – by model type, serial number or other customer-defined description. These items can be ordered on-line as well;

Flexibility

Pick-up and delivery of equipment is available on demand – any time, any place.

Axis Advantages

Experience

The Axis leadership team has more than 20 years of experience managing these type of adds, moves and changes for financial services firms;

Customized Solution

Axis takes the time to listen to you and understand your challenges and then we design and implement a customized solution that fits your needs;

Single Source Solution

Because we deliver to and pick up from any domestic or international location, Axis can be your single source solution;

Cost-Effective

Experience tells us that financial firms spend too much for shipping services and often do not get the service they truly need – Axis takes your precise deadlines and requirements into consideration and then ships in the most cost-effective manner possible;

Customized Billing

We can invoice you based on any internal code you designate;

24/7/365

We operate around-the-clock, every day of the year;

Advanced Systems

Axis offers its customers state-of-the-art order management, inventory management and transportation management systems;

Online Monitoring of Shipments

Our Axis-Trak system gives you two-click access to shipment and inventory status;

Automatic POD Notification

You will know exactly when your shipment arrives;

Personal Service

Clients can speak to a key decision maker at Axis at anytime day or night when a critical issue needs to be addressed.

Clients hire you to manage their assets because of your proven expertise. When it comes to handling and managing critical assets like computer equipment, doesn't it make sense to hire a logistics company with proven expertise?

Please contact us at your earliest convenience for a thorough discussion of your needs. We look forward to designing and implementing a customized logistics solution that will increase your efficiency and cut your costs.
